MISCELLANEOUS READING. SIX LITTLE FEET ON THE FENDER In my heart there liveth a picture

Or a kitchen rude and old, Where the firelight tripped o'er the rafters,

And reddesed the root's brown mould; Gilding the stream from the kettle That hummed on the foot worn hearth, Throughout all the livelong evening

Its measures of drowsy mirth. Because of the three light shadows That trescoed that rude old room-Because of the voices echoed Up 'mid the rafters gloom-

Because of the feet on the fender, Six restless, white little feet-The thoughts of that dear old kitchen Are to me so tresh and sweet.

When then the first dash on the window Told of the coming rain, Oh! where are the fair young faces

That crowded against the pane! What bits of firelight stealing . Their dimples cheeks between, When struggling out in the darkness In shreds of silver sheen!

Two of the feet grew weary, One dreary, dismal day, And we fied them with snow-white ribbons. Leaving him there by the way.

That weary, wintry night, For the four little feet had tracked it From his grave on the bright hill's height Oh! why, on this darksome evening,

There was tresh clay on the fender

This evening of rain and sleet.

Rest my feet all alone on the hearthstone Oh! where are those other feet? Are they treading the pathway of virtue That will bring us together above? Or have they made steps that will dampen

A sister's tireless love?

TIMELY ADVICE. Man begins to die at the extremities .-Keep the feet dry and warm; put on two pair of thick woolen stockings; go for a stout pair of winter boots and shoes; shoes are better for ordinary, every-lay use, as they allow the ready escape of the odors, while they strengthen the ankles by accustoming them to depend on themselves. Besides, a shoe compresses less, and hence admits of a more vigorous circulation of the blood. But wear boots when you ride or travel. Give direction to have no cerk or India rubber about the shee, Now is the time to sub cribs-Godey's Latry, "Gordon's Chatala" Formiture Polish, and but to place between the layers of the soles, out to out, a piece of stout hemp or tow linen which has been dipped into melted pich -This is absolutely impervious to water-does not absorb a particle-which we know the DEST OSWEGO STARCH; Salad Oil; cork does, and after awhile becomes "roggy" and Lemon Gum Drops; Catmp; Gum Arabic; B-rmida Arrow Rost; White on for the first time, they will fell as ea-y as Bar Soap; Flaxseed; Rochelle Salts; Calabria an old shoe and you may stand on damp places for hours with impunity.
